Hi! I'm Marta Ruiz, a Product Designer

10+ years in design, connecting user needs with business goals. For 5+ years I was embedded via Empathy.co in the product org of Kroger, one of the US's largest grocery retailers, designing search and monetisation experiences for tens of millions of customers. User research and testing are at the core of my work, and I'm comfortable working with senior stakeholders. Open to full-time product design roles, remote from Spain with UK, EU or US teams, and happy to travel.

Professional Experience

Nov 2020 – Mar 2026

Product Designer · Kroger (contractor via Empathy.co)

Cincinnati, US · Remote from Spain (CET) — 5+ years collaborating with US-based teams across timezones

Phase 1 · Search experience (2020–2023)

- Co-led the redesign of Kroger's core search, used by tens of millions of customers across web and app.
- Cut broad-query result sets by 80% (1,000+ → ~160) through iterative design and A/B testing, lifting add-to-cart conversion and revenue.
- Shipped a coupons carousel and inclusive filter chips (dietary, savings, price range) from user-research insights — significant uplift in filter engagement.

Phase 2 · Monetisation Ads — promoted (2023–2026)

Lead Product Designer on the Monetisation Ads team at Kroger — owning the full design process across every project, from discovery through developer handoff (web, iOS & Android), collaborating closely with the Product Manager and Senior Management to align on business objectives and product guidelines.

- Led end-to-end design of new ad formats shipped at scale, driving measurable revenue impact for Kroger and brand partners (specific figures under NDA).
- Designed sponsored product carousels — one of the team's highest-impact launches — plus a video ad format with carousel, including a screen-reader accessibility evaluation.
- Prototyped new ad types and tested them with 100 shoppers, 40 brands and 5 moderated interviews — the findings put sponsored carousels first.
- Made ad formats responsive and accessible (live text instead of flat images), added dynamic price tags to ads, and brought sponsored content into homepage campaigns.
- Presented regularly to Director/VP-level stakeholders across cross-functional teams of 6–15.

Jan 2016 – Aug 2020

Visual Designer · AlfaPeople

London, UK

- Lead designer for all marketing and brand materials across a 9-country organisation — owning layout, visual direction, and execution.
- Led the company's first social-media templates and a full rebrand (new brand identity and website).

Parallel to this role, pursued UX certifications and transitioned deliberately into product design — joining Empathy.co as a UX/UI Designer in 2020.
